PRESS RELEASE

Surrey Sculpture Society returns to Leonardslee Lakes and Gardens for Summer Exhibition 2022

The Surrey Sculpture Society is to stage its second Summer Exhibition at Leonardslee Lakes and Gardens at Horsham in West Sussex from 29th July until 4th September.

The Society's Exhibition Manager for the event, Abby Martin commented:

"We are absolutely delighted to be working once again with the team at Leonardslee Gardens to produce, what will be, a fabulous sculpture trail. This year, the trail takes a slightly different route - leading you around the top part of the Grade 1 Listed gardens where our sculptures will take you straight to the wallabies and past the vineyard and delicious teas, cakes and more. You may even end up eating a Leonardslee picnic with a peacock! With even more sculpture to see than last year, we hope it will prove a popular spot for people to come and spend a wonderful summer's day."

For almost three decades the Surrey Sculpture Society has been exhibiting at stunning venues across the country, showing the works of both renowned and emerging artists. The sculpture trail at Leonardslee will feature approximately 100 sculptures in a diverse range of sculptural styles and materials.

The beautiful woodland gardens are also home to celebrated South African sculptor Anton Smit's 'The Walk of Life' exhibition of monumental sculptures.

Visitors to the event will also have the rest of the 240 acres of spectacular gardens to explore and enjoy, including seven tranquil lakes, parkland, and woodland created by Sir Edmond Loder, the great Victorian plant hunter and previous owner of Leonardslee.

The venue also boasts exceptional visitor facilities with five food venues, a farm shop and garden centre and is located at Horsham, West Sussex.

Leonardslee Estate Manager Adam Streeter commented: "We are delighted to welcome the Surrey Sculpture Society to Leonardslee once again, which is gaining a reputation as a major arts venue in the South of England, especially as a venue for outdoor sculptures."

Admission to the Surrey Sculpture Society's Sculpture Trail is included in the entrance to Leonardslee Lakes and Gardens at Horsham RH13 6PR.
